

The Gate 1975

The 1974-75 academic year will definitely be entered into the heritage of Wingate College as a turning point, For the torch of Wingate's past lifeblood has been passed on to a new team of runners;
With her second wind,
Wingate is compelled to reach out once more
In an effort to accomplish the mission for which she has stood these many years.
Since Wingate endeavors to minister to people in whatever capacity she can Then it is somewhat appropriate that this yearbook realize her mission anew as it is fulfilled in this year —

It was not an ordinary day at Wingate College June 1, 1974 brought with it an event which had not occurred in 21 years
 How would the students react to the new president?
 What would Dr. Thomas E. Corts focus on as his major priority?

As the drama unveiled its plot to the administration, faculty, staff, and students of Wingate College, it became evident that change was in store, . . . and it was not long until the terms of the change were stated . . .
 whether he knew the impact of it or not, Dr. Corts had been using phrases like "spirit of community" and "year of renewal," and like any other good idea, everybody wanted to get in on the act . . .

Wingate College
Wingate, North Carolina

Cars unloading people . . .
 people unloading cars . . .
 Freshmen arriving for the first time . . .
 and Sophomores returning for their second . . .
 People smiling greeting each other glad to start afresh in another year at Wingate College . . .
 Yes, with the beginning of the school year the heart of the population returned to revitalize the piedmont oasis of Wingate College in a production that would run the whole year.

With the arrival of each individual,
the campus livened a little more Ready to formulate itself into the working playing helping community that it desired to be;
And, for the first time in a while, the community was ready to be called a community and, to be treated as such

In this community in which people live in such close proximity to each other, it is common to see people sharing their talents — themselves — with one another we share not because we are required, but because we have the opportunity to give

Also . . . in our campus community, the people seek to upbuild one another . . .
knowing that differences arise . . .
in expressing those differences, each person exhibits his own capabilities and desires . . .
we experience
we love we appreciate those who illuminate our daily lives with change . . .

... people of every intellectual level athletic accomplishment artistic endeavor intermingle ...

additions to the entire spectrum ...

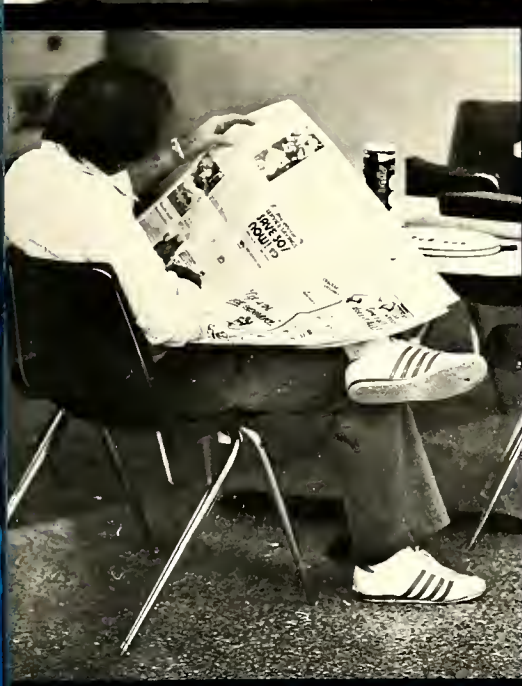

recreation — a time when the real personality of each member of the community is quite candidly demonstrated. It is here that one spontaneously "re-creates" those innermost qualities which he inherently possesses

And then, there are those moments when silence is necessary . . .
 vital . . .
 in the self-identification of the individual . . .
 when quiet is desired . . .
 when a member of the community must retreat to catch up.

And so . . .
 solitude becomes . . .
 a part of the community.

1975 Dedication

Dr. Robert Blake Barnes

It would be hard to pick a man any more representative of Christian higher education than the one to whom we have dedicated the 1975 Gate. He is a man of humility who rarely ever raises his voice above that volume which characterizes concern, warmth, and compassion. With the realization that security can be obtained by the man who serves God, Dr. Robert Barnes accepts life for what it is without complaint or despair appreciating the opportunity to have been able to live. Being concerned with the quality of his teaching, he is devoted to the task of learning how he can relate his subject to his students. Because of the gift of knowledge and understanding he has imparted to them, he stands truly as a man who has shared himself — his talents, his love — with those who seek to learn. The Wingate College campus community is fortunate to have a man of the caliber of Dr. Barnes.

Dr. Barnes began teaching at Wingate in 1963 having to his credit an impressive list of degrees. These degrees include an A.A. from Mars Hill College; a B.A. degree from Wake Forest University; a B.D. and a Th.M. from Southern Baptist Theological Seminary; and, finally, a Ph.D. from the University of Edinburgh in 1957. He has taught an adult Sunday school class at Wingate Baptist Church and he has served as the Chairman of the Department of Religion here at the college. Married to Betty Hicks of New Orleans, Dr. Barnes has two sons: Blake and Jack.

It is seldom that an SGA at Wingate College ever has the opportunity to work under a new college president, but it has been the privilege of the 1974-75 SGA to have been able to do this. It has been an exciting year in many ways, and the list of SGA-sponsored activities is quite a credit to their record. This list includes an Orientation dance at which the Spontanes was the feature band, numerous informal dances, a Christmas dance with the band Hot Smokin' Brass the Homecoming Court, the Miss Wingate Pageant, and other enlivening activities. These activities bear out the fact that the SGA is composed of people working to make Wingate College a better place for her students; and, these events also create a better campus atmosphere by stimulating better interpersonal relationships among the students. Faculty advisors are Mrs. Sue Y. Fulgham and Mr. Ralph C. Williams.

Men's Dormitory Council

The Men's Dormitory Council is an organization made up of men's residence hall managers and counselors for the purpose of insuring that the men's dormitories will be proper places of study and rest. The council assists the Dean of Men and the Assistant Dean of Men in supervising dormitory life.

Activities of this year's council include helping both with the parking and with other arrangements during the inauguration of Dr. Corts, and with the Bloodmobile's annual visit to the campus. These men also serve as guides for any guests on campus during the school year.

Women's Government Association

The WGA represents all women students at Wingate College. They sponsor events for women, so that they will become better acquainted with each other; one such event was the Hoagy Party in September. They also sponsor all-campus events for the enjoyment of all students, such as Twirp Week, which included a Halloween Carnival this year in addition to traditional events; a dance; and the Tea which honors the Spring Festival Queen and her attendants.

In cooperation with the college administration, their main purpose is to establish regulations and guidelines in residence halls for the benefit and well-being of all women students.

Women's Dormitory Council

Serving as a communication link between the administration and the female boarding students, the members of the Women's Dormitory Council act as informal counselors, assist in open house in their dorms, distribute information, and serve as hostesses for dormitory functions. They also help the WGA in such festivities as those which occur during Twirp Week.

Alpha Mu Gamma

Alpha Mu Gamma is the national collegiate foreign language honor society. Alpha Pi, the Wingate College Chapter, contributes each year to the National Alpha Mu Gamma Scholarships and to the National Foreign Language Week. Membership is based purely on honorary academic achievement.

Miss Helen Cowser (Faculty Advisor), Walter Crowell (President)

Phi Theta Kappa

Theta Nu, Wingate's chapter of Phi Theta Kappa, worked diligently this year planning for the Carolinas' Phi Theta Kappa Convention held at the Ramada Inn in Charlotte. Serving as the host chapter it provided the entertainment such as "The Windy Gate" and the guest speaker for the banquet, Dr. Corts, among others.

All members of Theta Nu are in the top five percent of the graduating class and are nominated by the Wingate College faculty in March of the freshman year and September of the sophomore year.

Theta Nu wishes to promote academic excellence at Wingate College. Its main domestic goal is to make Phi Theta Kappa synonymous with the academic life at Wingate College.

Chi Omicron Pi

Chi Omicron Pi, Wingate's chemistry organization, aids all chemistry students with any problems they might have.

Throughout the year, Chi Omicron Pi has expanded student horizons in the field of chemistry by visiting nuclear power plants, studying films on different subjects, and by having each work on a major experiment to expand his or her knowledge in this field.

Sigma Alpha Omega

Sigma Alpha Omega is an honorary mathematics fraternity designed both to recognize those who excel in the field of mathematics and to serve as a common ground for those who are interested in math.

Their accomplishments for the year include the induction of new members in the fall and spring, and a cookout in October.

Student National Education Association

This year, the old SEA of Wingate College has now become the SNEA after having joined its respective state and national legal organizations. This group strives to promote interest in the teaching profession and encourages the exchange of new ideas among members. It gives its members an opportunity to gain insight in their chosen professions by surrounding them with active professionals. Besides being a socially oriented organization, the SNEA participates in district and state meetings with students from other college chapters.

Young Republicans

The Young Republican's Club functions as an aid to Republican candidates in local and state-wide elections by working closely with the Union County Republican's Club.

This year, on October 25 and 26, the club sent seven delegates to the North Carolina Federation of College Republican's ball convention which was held at the Charlotte Civic Center. Four members attended this dinner and reception honoring Governor Ronald Reagan.

The Wingate College Republican's Club expresses views of the Republican Party which stress the value of a good political system.

Outing Club

For the enjoyment of all outdoorsmen, the Outing Club was formed. It provides its members with many interesting outdoor activities. During the year, these students participate in weekend trips such as camping, hiking, mountain climbing, caving, parachuting, water and snow skiing, beach trips and winter camping.

No matter what the season, these students are on the go, getting close to nature.

Wingate College Stringed Quartet

Jeff Goodall, David Merritt, Wynne Dickson, Doss Phillips, Douglas Lowder.
Faculty Advisor: Mrs. Sarah Slechtsa

Our String Quarter here at Wingate strives to raise the technical and musical level of the performers while developing their knowledge of chamber, classical, and popular music.

Each Christmas, the String Quartet gives a holiday concert and plays for many of the area high schools in the spring.

Windy Gate

The Windy Gate is a new organization both to the music department and to this section of the Gate. This contemporary musical group, chosen from the Concert Choir, was primarily designed to be a travelling group which would sing at various locations. This year it earned the distinction of being taped for a television special for December.

Counterpoint

Profiles of the Past

I saw the profiles of the past hanging on my wall;
they spoke the silent sounds of truth which speak unto us all.

The words as uttered in my mind are symbols of their age; but now, my friends, the time has come to turn about the page.

Now the eternal question comes as history gives the call.
Will our words remain as true when we are pictures on the wall?

Joseph Christopher Roberts

This is just one of the many hundred poems in the files of Counterpoint's past. Counterpoint is one of the many ways to preserve the thoughts of students both past and present so that all can look back to see if their words still remain true "when we are pictures on the wall."

The Counterpoint staff encourages creative writing as well as art and photography for its annual Counterpoint magazine which is published in the spring.

The success of the 1974-75 Triangle staff is evidenced by the newspapers it has published in the past year. The staff best summed up its mission in its first paper, in which it wrote:

"Like Lazarus the Triangle is resurrected! We shake off two years of dust, take a deep breath, and feel rather well in the new and sunny optimism that flourishes on the campus at this the opening of Wingate's seventy-eighth year.

"We welcome the call to regroup, to march on as the Triangle staff is indebted to this new spirit on campus which made possible its revival, so we dedicated ourselves to the perpetuation of that spirit. We seek to accent the positive rather than dwell on the negative. In coming issues we shall search for what is right with Wingate College and what will make it better."

1975 Gate Staff

Though the memories here will fade and become dimmed in life's turmoil, we hope that someday you will sit down and open the 1975 Gate and smile with a warm remembrance of your own special moments at Wingate College. Through these photos and these words, we hope that we have captured both what Wingate has done for you, and what you have done for Wingate.

The President

Dr. Corts and his wife, Marla

Dr. Corts and daughters Jennifer and Rachel

Dr. Thomas E. Corts

Certainly, a better man could not have been found to fill the vacant office of the Presidency of Wingate College than Dr. Thomas E. Corts. Dr. Corts completed his undergraduate work at Georgetown College from which he proceeded to Indiana University where he eventually received his Ph.D. in Speech. He comes to Wingate bringing with him a lovely wife, Marla, and three children: Jennifer, Rachel, and Christian.

Dr. Corts practices an open-door policy at Wingate as he makes himself available to students and faculty at every possible chance. He has been an inspiration both to the college and to the community because he spends himself in service to God, to his country, and to his fellow man. Once, in speaking to the student body, Dr. Corts, who is an avid fan of the writings of Dag Hammarskjöld, quoted from him: " 'I don't know Who — or what — put the question, I don't know when it was put. I don't even remember answering. But at some moment I did answer Yes to Someone — or Something — and from that hour I was certain that existence is meaningful and that, therefore, my life, in self-surrender, had a goal.' " And certainly Dr. Corts has put forth much effort to obtain his goals. Being the type of man who enjoys meeting the challenges of life, he has focused on making the Wingate College community a community of renewal. Through the benefits of hard work and serendipitous experiences, Dr. Corts will certainly succeed in all of his endeavors at this institution.

The honored guests at the head table during lunch.

Dr. Budd E. Smith, President Emeritus, congratulates Dr. Corts

The Inauguration of Thomas Edward Corts as President of Wingate College

It was a cool, wet day on Monday, November 18 — a day one would hardly have expected to have been as important to Wingate College as it was. Though the majority of the student body had not returned, the campus bustled with activity that morning as the final preparations were made for the formal ceremony in which Dr. Thomas Edward Corts would be inaugurated as the eleventh president of the college. As the time for the ceremony grew nearer, the campus was finally in order for the arrival of the many dignitaries which Wingate hosted on that inaugural day.

At the designated time, the Inaugural Procession filed down the aisles of the Austin-Webb auditorium. After the invocation was delivered by Reverend Everette Chapman, formal greetings were brought to the President by various people representing different aspects of higher education. Among the speakers were Thad Eure, Secretary of State; Dean Wallace Colvard of the University of North Carolina at Charlotte; Thomas Oscar Hall, Jr. of the Southern Baptist Convention; Reverend Thomas Robert Mullinax of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina; Vernon Talmadge Helms, Jr., Chairman of the Union County Board of Commissioners; Fulton Allen Huntley, Vice-President of the Board of Trustees; Mrs. Carolyn Caldwell Gaddy, the senior member of the Faculty; Francis Bernard Helms, President of the Alumni Association; and, Warren E. Hobbs, President of the Student Government Association.

At the conclusion of these greetings, the Wingate College Concert Choir, under the direction of Dr. Clinton Nichols, performed "Sanctus." After their performance, Mr. W. T. Harris, President of the Board of Trustees, installed Dr. Corts into office, and Dr. Budd E. Smith, President Emeritus of the college, bestowed upon him the medal representing "power and leadership."

In his address, Dr. Corts, satisfied with the fact that the ceremony had been executed and fully convinced that "it's much too late now to back out," compared the "interesting times" in which we are living with the period of the American Revolution. He said that in defending their cause, "the Founding Fathers had something intangible, inestimable, and uncontainable that knit them together, that helped them to overcome. We call it now by the mysterious title, 'The Spirit of '76' — grown in luster surely a thousandfold in the two hundred years, — but to reach back and to try to catch what characterized those Founding Fathers, one has a thousand options depending on whom he reads. But surely there was, first, a sense of conviction and commitment and a willingness to risk, and to risk everything in a remarkable demonstration of what some thought reckless abandon, and others thought raw courage — to demonstrate that rugged independence and self-reliance are truly American and can not be contained. Secondly, perhaps the sense of camaraderie, that we are in this together; Franklin's famous statement that "we must hang together or we shall all hang separately." This great sense of group effort was very much theirs. And, thirdly, a sense of hope about the future; that you roll up your sleeves, you do your work, you use your mind, and the talents God gave you. But, beyond that, you trust the future to God, and do not sit around fumbling in futility trying to describe what path destiny is going to designate for you. You get on with the business and do the job. Those three great characteristics I prize in what I know about the American Revolutionary spirit."

He went on to say that people are becoming so insecure in these times that they have the tendency to reach out for everything else, "feeling that the gospel our fathers believed was not good enough, the buildings that have been built by our predecessors are not strong enough, the spirit of learning and freedom of inquiry is not prized enough to carry us through our particular time. My vote is that it is, and it is not a diminishment of the past to say that we must prize the future and reach out here in the present, and begin with a kind of renewal of the 'Spirit of '76.' And why not begin with it here?"

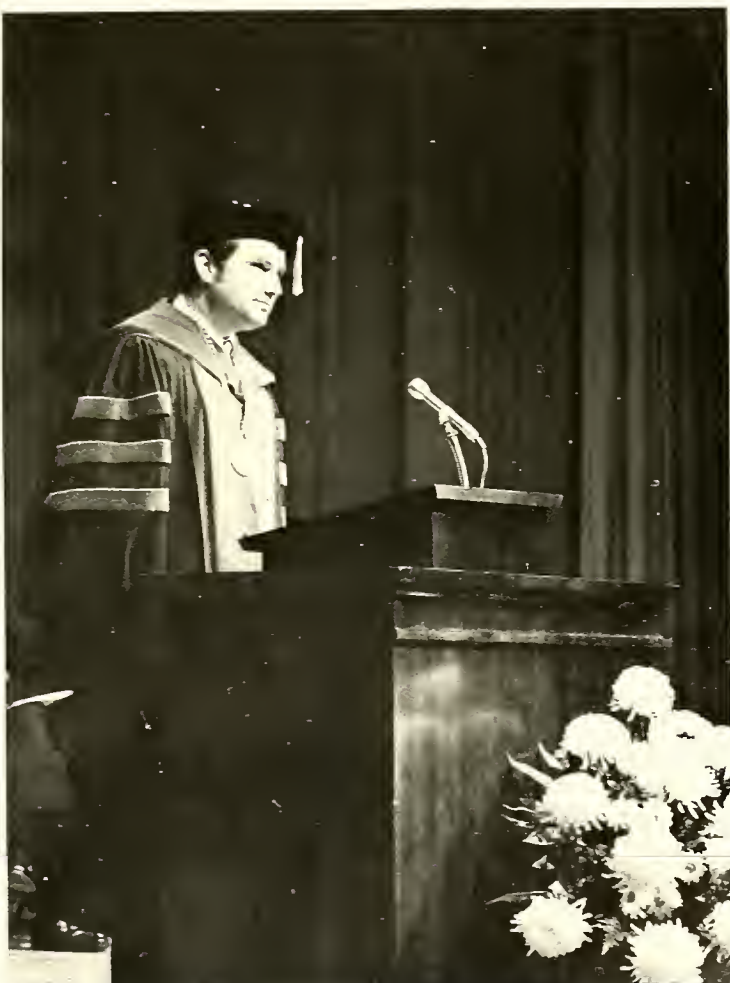

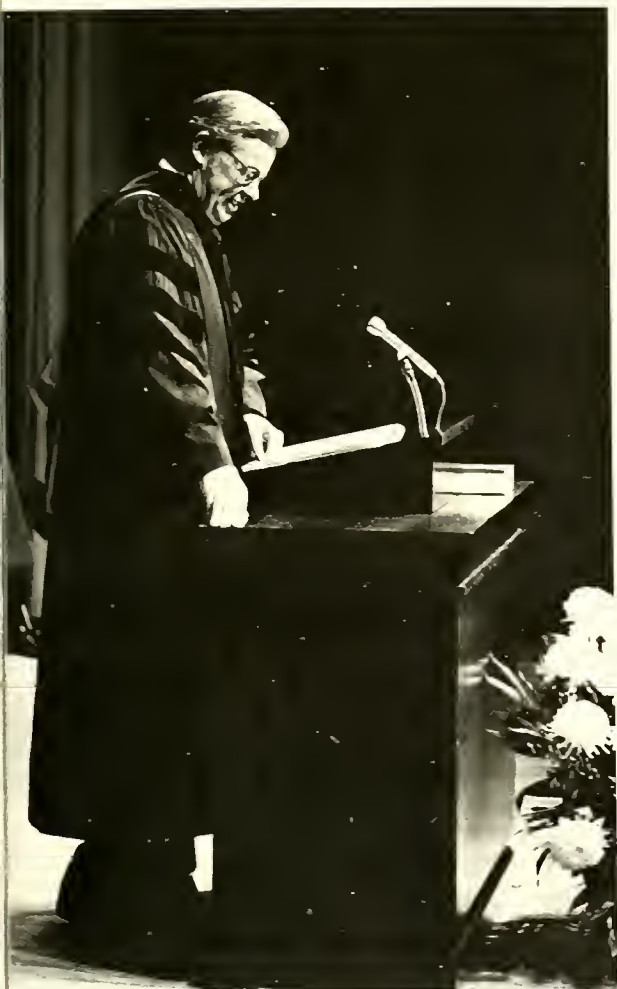

In closing, he commented that though he would not be here when the Tricentennial arrives, "I want the 'Spirit of '76' to be alive then, alive and well, and living in America. And to that end, my friends, here at Wingate College, and for so long as you entrust me with that charge, I pledge to you my life, my fortune, and my sacred honor."

Dr. James Ralph Scales, President of Wake Forest University, introduced the principle speaker of the day. Dr. Scales paused in his introduction to offer tribute to Dr. Smith for his work here at Wingate College by saying of him, "If you would see his monument, look about you."

Dr. Robert Lee Mills, President of Georgetown College, presented the principle address of the day. Having been Dr. Corts' college president, he expressed the affection that Georgetown College had for this "favorite son." "But I think more than anything else we celebrate the fact that Wingate College has brought as its president not only a capable man, but a young man who's a deeply committed Christian — a young man who is a Christian gentleman. I've heard Tom speak on many occasions both at the college and at other places where he was invited, but one of the most beautiful talks I ever heard him make had to do with an affirmation that he gave as a Christian — an affirmation of his belief in the sovereignty and the leadership of God. And it makes all the difference in the world in this day and time with the problems we face, and the decisions we have, and the pressures we have, to have answered in our own lives the ultimate questions — to be able to affirm that God is, that He cares about us, that He is interested in us and in the institutions that we head; and, that as we look to him for leadership, and reaffirm the noble purposes of institutions of this kind, we have an ultimate answer, and today's pressing problems — today's annoying problems — somehow or other are exceedingly less significant and less worrisome and less annoying."

With the conclusion of the Inaugural ceremony, a reception was held to end the events of the day. The Inaugural committee had done a good job in the execution of its responsibility.

As the evening darkness settled on the village of Wingate, one could recall quite clearly the events of the day, and he could easily realize that it had been a good day.

LIFESTYLES

Once again the Wingate College Campus came alive in the fall of '74 with the return of the students. For Freshmen Wingate was a new experience, while Sophomores came back to all the familiar places. Burris became a busy place where students "visited" their advisors. The Rec Hall and the post office fast became important aspects of everyone's life. As the days progressed into weeks, many activities took place.

One of the first traditions everyone learned about was Convocation. For Sophomores, Convocation the year before had been called chapel. Convocation was different before this year; it had previously been divided with the freshmen attending on Mondays, while the sophomores attended on Wednesdays. Convocation provided the student body with many interesting programs. Dr. Corts welcomed everyone to Wingate during the first program. Among the many speakers to present programs was Dr. Corts' brother, Rev. Mark Corts from the Calvary Baptist Church in Winston-Salem. During one Convocation, Jayne Winfield and Daniel Ericourt presented a very impressive piano duet. Dr. Heilman, Rufus Edminsten, and many others made Convocation interesting throughout the year.

The Sophomore Class was responsible for bringing some excellent films to Wingate through the year. Among them were "Walking Tall", "Bonnie and Clyde", "The Getaway", "Slaughterhouse Five", "The Way We Were", "Clockwork Orange", and "Dirty Harry". The films that were attended by students were greatly enjoyed.

The Lyceum programs have been much more than interesting this year. Charles Kuralt presented a friendly, informal program that was enjoyed by students and faculty as well as by the community. The Charlotte Symphony Orchestra came to the Austin Memorial Auditorium under the direction of Jacques Brouman to present an admirable program with their eleven year old violinist Henry Raudales. Robert Minford's "Journey to Eldorado" brought a bit of the dramatic world to Wingate with his one man dramatized tribute to Edgar Allen Poe. The North Carolina Symphony conducted by John Gosling and featuring bass — baritone William Warfield also came to Wingate to bring a touch of the arts. The Saint Louis Jazz Quartet received a warm welcome by both students and faculty.

During Halloween the WGA had a Carnival, featuring all the old-fashioned favorites. There was a haunted house, cake walk, and an apple bob. Dean K. became "clown for a day" for the Carnival, and "Rev." Bert Wood married couples for the night. The couples who were married took the girl's last name. The climax of the evening came when Mr. Irresistible was crowned.

Before the Carnival the WGA held a Leg Sale where only the girl's legs were shown. The "legs" went to the highest bidder and the girls had to be the bidder's slave for the day.

Wingate also had a great deal of talent within the ranks of the campus. The Variety Show was a very successful venture supported by many talented students and members of the faculty.

Dr. Clinton Nichols and his wife, Jarvis Rose, sang duets and each did numbers alone. There were students who did impersonations, guitar solos and duets, with many talented singers.

Wingate has been a gathering place for students, faculty, and community people to come together and make a "joyful noise." Under the direction of Dr. Nichols the Community Choral Group performed the Christmas portion of Handel's "Messiah." Occasions such as this have brought the students and the community closer together.

The Wingate Baptist Church has been very hospitable in extending fellowships to the students at Wingate. Reverend Chapman's smiling face has been a familiar sight on the Wingate campus.

Wingate wouldn't be complete without the hustle, bustle of Drive-In students. There have been many groups in the parking lot discussing the latest problems, sharing a joke, or just plain being sympathetic with one another.

The students at Wingate differed very little from students at other schools. There was always something to do, whether it was attend a movie, go to Lyceum, go to the library, or just study. It has been a very busy, successful year at Wingate.

The emphasis for the year has been renewal, but it is not evidenced as much in the college itself as it is in the personalities of those who have learned here. Wingate is not concerned so much with what can be bought and paid for with money; she is concerned with what must be done to lead someone in living a productive life — productive because one is prepared to enrich the lives of others. For this college does not pass us through her doors with mechanical cyclic repetition; instead, she takes note of our needs, our desires, our very personhood, and strives to equip us with solutions to world problems — not necessarily steadfast unchanging solutions, but solutions derived from the reasoning faculty of our minds.

And perhaps all too often we pursue this idea of college at a time when we're still too inexperienced to realize its effect . . . to realize that in the exploitation of the academic world there exists a seemingly infinite amount of possibilities in which one might find a place of intellectual and personal fulfillment . . . a place of emotional and spiritual stability . . .

All taken together, the year has sought to re-emphasize that indeed it is people who make the difference — the difference between a happy smile or a sad face — an energetic, vivacious youth or a lonesome and distraught vagabond

It has represented a turning point in the lives of many people; for others, only a stepping stone, but for all it has been an eventful time in light of the occurrences in all levels of our society . . .

marred by the accusations of a disappointed nation, Richard Milhous Nixon resigns the Office of the Presidency of the United States . . . conditional amnesty is offered to draft evaders in order that they might make amends with their country . . . fighting on Cyprus results in the death of American Ambassador Rodger P. Davies . . . the National Football League strikes during the pre-season . . . the energy crisis takes its toll as natural gas supplies and electric power are cut back . . . Evel Knievel "jumps" the Grand Canyon . . . we mourn the loss of the three renowned personalities, Walter Brennan, Charles A. Lindbergh, and Jack Benny . . . a plane crash in Charlotte kills 72 . . . the unemployment level reached record heights during 1975 . . . former President Nixon is pardoned; yet, the Watergate trials continue as the conspirators are convicted . . .

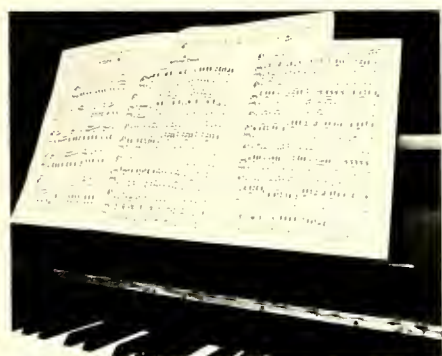

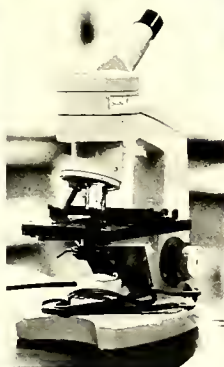

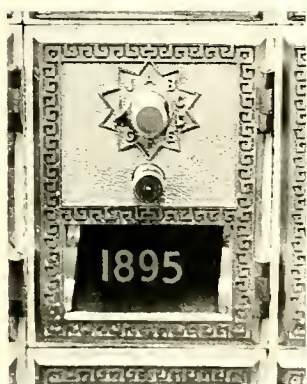

Time is running out for America unless her people accept the challenge to maintain the principles on which this country was founded . . . if only the liberty bell could peal once again in men's souls to remind them of that good old-fashioned virtue named patriotism. On the brink on the Bicentennial of the American Revolution it is time to restore national optimism, to re-establish confidence in our own government, to thrust forward in pursuit of a better society . . .

We've quite a task to be done . . .

WINGATE COLLEGE

As the school year slowly approaches its conclusion, one can already see that even the inanimate objects on campus begin to have more meaning — they hold something innate within themselves signifying that the key to their own value is bound up in the personalities of those who use them.

And certainly the members of Wingate form a composite personality . . . one built from the interdependence that we have on one another . . . thus as this season terminates, it is only fitting that each individual resolve within his own heart to strive for the highest obtainable goals in life. Life is a blessed opportunity . . . and the manner in which we live our lives must be consistent with the will of our God . . . for contentment can only be found in truth, and truth is God's.

By the Way,

in order to raise money to be sent to the Bangladesh Food Fund, President Corts and Reverend Chapman offered to be thrown into the fountain of the Administration building if (and only if) the campus could reach its goal of $1000.00 in a period of two weeks. The people given the privilege of persuading the two men into the water were the members of the dormitory hall who donated the most money per person by the end of the period. You guessed it! A generous $1561.10 was collected, and on Wednesday, February 5 . . . after Convocation . . . on a cold, overcast day . . . at the hands of third floor Cannon, . . . Dr. Corts and Rev. Chapman took a swim.

Memorial to the Life of Mary Ann Kincaid

There is a certain supreme justice presiding over our lives . . .

And though it may seem unfair at times,
we must abide in it . . .

We are blind to its motive and vulnerable to its effects, But we're offered the chance to understand its end

If in our lives we give each day to those around us in the name of our Creator.

Mary Ann Kincaid lived her life in giving.
She lives for those who loved her enough to remember;

She is remembered because she loved enough to become immortal.

"As a college, we shall be grateful for the quality of life that Mary Ann Kincaid represented and shared with us.
We wish that the experience could have been longer, but we shall never forget that quiet quality of genuine character, helpfulness, and a happy smile. We are the poorer for not having her here, but I'm hoping that in viewing the quality of life that she represented, maybe we also might be able to learn something of that quality."

— Dr. Jerry L. Surratt
November 11, 1974

This is the only place in the annual that I am freely allowed to express my own opinions and ideas. Elsewhere, I've had to interpret events generally so that they would hold in the situations of many people. This has been a hard task, yet I kept telling myself that if only I could write the theme, then I would save the last page for my comments. Until now that sounded like a good idea except that I have less to say than I had previously.

I think that the annual speaks for itself in many ways. The theme is not philosophically oriented, yet it does not preclude that aspect entirely. It has been a hard theme to formulate for often I have written much at one time when I would suddenly reach a point where my own thinking vacated the topic at hand leaving me with only the thought — not a conclusion. And when one considers that Wingate College is not composed of any single type of personality, but that it is the mixture of many diverse people, then it becomes evident that a specific theme with a single line of thought could be impractical.

Aside from the theme, the idea of which was derived from my first meeting with Dr. Corts in the summer of 1974, there was the technical side of the annual — form, photography, technique, decisions, management, money, administration, business, and on and on it goes. Though I don't claim any expertise in these areas, I do contend that now I have some invaluable experience in these matters. Our single biggest problem arose with photography; however, we lived with the situation and here is the product. I would be nonrealistic in believing that I would edit an annual whose production would be smooth and perfect, so I will refrain from any such notion.

The new year will see the Gate trying to alleviate many of its problems by using more efficient production techniques along with the good old "tricks of the trade." Now that we have learned the ropes, we will pass along the information to succeeding colleagues in hopes that their work will entail more creativity with fewer obstacles to overcome technically.

I've enjoyed and appreciated the opportunity to edit the 1975 Gate. At times the pressure has been seemingly more than I could bear; but it was also at those times that I was able to find strength from within — the inner strength that comes from the Lord. In this responsibility I've met many people — many more than I would have met in any other capacity — and I have learned just how helpful people can be when one needs them. I've also learned much about the responsibility of leadership; that it can give one a sense of accomplishment quite often if the job is well done, but that it can put one in a precarious position at times when the task is not executed with the correct precision. In truth, I can say that until now, I have not been fully ready to accept this position; and, ironically, it is now that I am relinquishing it.

I would like to say thank you to many people, but unfortunately space does not allow that; however, I will mention the names of a few people who have probably helped the most. Special thanks go to:

the coaching staff — Mrs. Joyce Pipes, Miss Penny Davis, Mr. James Holleman, Mr. John A. Cox, III, and Mr. William Connell — for their assistance in obtaining photos for the sports section.

those who have encouraged, advised, and supported me, and those who have given me ideas. Mrs. Beverly Christopher, Rev. Everette Chapman, Dr. Thomas E. Corts, Mr. Doss Phillips, Warren Hobbs, and my roommate, Larry Donaldson have meant very much to me for their enthusiasm and suggestions literally helped to "glue" this book together.

those who have helped with photography — Blair Myrick, Mr. Don Sturkey, the Monroe Enquirer, Mr. Bruce Curlee (The Regional News), and especially Mr. Linn E. Joy. Their help has been tremendous.

Mrs. Louise Blackwelder for coming over to the school when the library was closed to do some Xeroxing for me.

Mrs. Delores Thomas and Susan Waldroop for "spot-typing"

Mrs. Marie Hinson for lending me her office and typewriter at nights and over the weekends . . . and for aiding me with her suggestions and opinions concerning layouts.

Mr. Reg Smith, my publications consultant for the American Yearbook Company, for his advice and help concerning production of the book.

the Gate staff who aided me often when they should have been busy with other things (like school), but who put the 1975 Gate together from only a set of loosely related ideas to a finished book.

Mr. Ralph C. Williams who gave his time both during office hours and during his free time to advise, help, proofread, and worry with me. A good advisor is undoubtedly the best friend an editor can have, and I must say that Mr. Williams is both a good friend and a good advisor.

My family for their help and their endurance in watching me work this past year. Without them I never could have fulfilled this position.

Most of all, I want to thank the students of Wingate College who form the campus community in which I have felt privileged to live for the past two years.
